VAGRANT BULLET HITS A GIRL.

Miss Georgia Laidain the Victim —Other Accidents.

Miss Georgia Laidain, the 18-year-old daughter of Joseph Lablain of No. 309 South Twenty-first street, received a bullet in her right wrist Thrusday evening while walking along the sidewalk in front of her home. The young woman at first thought one of the children playing on the sidewalk had hit her with a rock, but when her wound began to pain her she went to her father, and an invastigation caused the summons of a physician.

Doctor D. M. Gilban, who was called, found a bullet from a 35-callber revolver in the bone. Where the missile came from is a mystery, though from the nature of the wound. It is thought to have traveled a long way before finding lodgment. The in-

THEY DIG POTATOES.

Probably Will Rot on the Stubble-Farm Conditions.

Farmers in the lowlands along the Illi- REPUBLIC SPECIAL nois shore of the Mississippi from Granite City to Alton are harvesting the crop of potatoes by means of skiffs, owing to the recent high water flooding the fields. When the fields were submerged large patches of potatoes were ready to be dug.

After waiting a few days for the water to recede the farmers, anxious to save the crop, began to dig them with the aid of skiffs and small rafts. In some parts of the farms the unter only flooded the space several acres are submerged and the only way the crop can be saved is to dig the potatoes by the use of tongs. As the water is but a few feet deep, the plan is proving successful. Several farmers brought are of the potatoes to the Tri-Cities yescause of the polatices to the Friedrice year terday and sold them at 75 cents a bushel. Saving the wheat that was submerged did not prove so easy and a heavy loss is ex-cepted. At the time of the flood most of t was cut and in sheaves ready for thrashing. That which did not float away is beginning to sprout and as in many locali-ties it cannot be handled conveniently it is feared the crop will be a total loss.

TERNELL'S EVIDENCE WILL BE IMPORTANT

Farmers Near Tri-Cities Take Crop | Did He See Disbrow, Foster and Miss Lawrence Get Into One Boat?

FISH TUBERS OUT WITH TONGS. WILL REVEAL ALL ON STAND.

Wheat Spronting in the Shock and | Makes Statement to Reporter Which Indicates That He Knows More Than He Has Told.

Good Ground, L. I., N. Y., July 8.-It is now believed that District Attorney Smith week a witness who saw Foster, Disgrow and Miss Lawrence all get into one boat and push out into the bay. That witness is Edward Ternell.

Mr. Ternell to-day admitted that he was in the yard back of his house at 3 o'clock in the morning of the fatal day, and that he would tell on the stand more than has yet between the rows, but in other parts the been revealed about the case. If he does entire fields were covered.

On Mongera's farm, on Chouteau Island, boat, it will add much to the District Attorney's case, which has been greatly strengthened by the developments of the last few days. "There are some things which I cannot tell you," Mr. Ternell said to a reporter. "But everything will come out on the witness stand next week, and there is no rea-son why I should not be frank with you, so far as I can and not violate my pledge to the District Attorney. "It is true that I was up that morning and that I knew that something was going on, but I did not know all about it until after day, and even then-I'm not saying that even now I know all that happened." "Did you see the three together that, norning?" he was asked.

Knew They Were Together. "No, I did not see them together, but I knew early that day that they had been together. When Clarence, Disbrow and the girl drove up to my place about 2 o'clock in the morning I was out back of the house watching for chicken thieves, just as I have said before. But I did not see them drive up; they came in very quietly and hitched the horse to the barn door. What they did from that time until daylight, or until they went out in the boat, I do not "Do you know if Foster and the girl had a room in your house that night?"

"I do not know that positively. All I can tell you is that at 3 o'clock that morning I found this poor fellow, hitched to the barn I unlocked the door and took the horse and carriage inside. I looked in the carriage a little and found the girl's hat under the "That naturally aroused suspicions and

him. "But if you had not discovered that the room had been occupied at the time you had the talk with Disbrow, why did you accuse him of making improper use of your house?"

Made an Evasive Reply. Mr. Ternell hesitated and then replied, erasively, that he did not like the locks of hings and did not know what to make of finding the carriage.

Frank, as it appears on its face, this statement of Mr. Ternell is far from being all the truth. In the first place if he were up and about the premises at 2 o'clock. it is altogether probable that he knew where Foster. Disbrow and the girl were. He took their horse into the barn and no doubt knew whether they were in the house or down on the beach. The L. Testimony May Be Important. Both District Attorney Smith and Detec-tive Field are silent as to what Mr. Ter-nell will swear to, but they admit that his testimony will be very important. Mr. Ter-nell said to-day that he went back to bed at half past 3 o'clock that morning, after having put the horse in the barn. That is the time, app oximately, fixed by Miss Pear-sull, when the three were outside the hotel, going toward the beach. Mr. Ternell's barn is on high ground, overlooking the beach, and the spot where the hoats were moored.

It is probable that he did not know in a eneral way what happened. He found the orse hitched to the barn door, and the oman's hat in the carriage. He was suswoman's hat in the carriage. He was suspicious, according to his own statement, that something was wrong.

Still, he says, he went to bed a half hour later, and did not know who was in his house or what was going on Mr. Ternell's place is not a hotel. It is merely a large cottage, on the bay, and at the time Mr. and Miss Pearsail and Disbrow were the only boarders under his roof.

At night it is as still as a desert about the place, and Miss Pearsail declares that the disturbance in Disbrow's room was so violent that it awakened her from a sound sieep.

The belief is general here that Mr. Ternell is keeping his piedge to the District Attorney, and will tell under eath much more than he has yet told about the case.
